

65 45

Y2
7399
F 22

on
Head Ark

[Faint, illegible handwriting in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript.]

[Marginal notes or a list on the right side of the page, including Roman numerals.]
I
II
III
IV
V
VI

Head Ach

Two diseases are more general, or more distressing than the head ach. It affects all ages above puberty, and sometimes young persons from 14 years old, down to eight and ten. Women are more subject to it ^{than} ~~than~~ men, and that in the ratio of ten to one. I said formerly it is in the women a form of gout.

of this disease

The ~~the~~ remote and exciting causes, act pri-brain

marily upon the ~~head~~, this the medium,

I of its organization, or organic diseases.

II of the blood vessels.

III of the nerves.

IV of the stomach.

V of the senses and

VI of the mind.

the causes of head ach from organization, and organic diseases. These are

I malconformation of the head. In this

[Faint, mostly illegible handwritten text in cursive script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

ca
its 2
3 c g
c
c
in
-
II
2 p 2
a 2
a

Often 2

case it is ~~usually~~ ^{often} hereditary, & discovers itself in early life.

2 Abscesses in the frontal sinuses & in the ears.

3 Contusions in the head. ^{They sometimes produce} producing depression, or extravasation of ~~the~~ blood under the skull.

~~I have known head ache from the contusions,~~

~~continue for many years.~~ But a simple constriction of the brain will sometimes induce chronic head ache without being accompanied with either depression or extravasa-

-tion.

II The Causes which induce head ache thro' the medium of the blood vessels are

1 Fevers of all kind. It is most severe in fevers from ~~exaltations~~ both Keins & Jidio trismatic exaltations. It is often the solitary symptom of a rising epidemic.

When that ~~inter~~ epidemic is an intermittent, the head ache is periodical. A head ache, Dr Cullen used to inform his pupils, [Faint, mostly illegible handwriting in cursive script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper.]

of very his con
a p
2 d
Ho
1
the 2 d
of Ho
-lu
I a wic
you
to 3
a
p

3 occupied the place of of this kind once ~~suggested~~ an intermittent upon the Eastern Coasts of Scotland. In the Autumn of 1800 the head ach was very common in Philad^a. It was supposed to be a form of the autumnal fever.

2 The Head-ach is sometimes induced by Gout.
It may be known to arise from this cause 1 by the patient ~~has~~ having been subject to the Gout, or ^{being} descended from Gouty Ancestors.
2 by its being preceded by pains in other parts of the body, & particularly with pickup at the neck or flatulency & 3 by its being re-
-lived by pains in other parts of the body.
I have once known it relieved by a Gleet,
with which it ~~was to alternate with that Gleet for fifteen~~ years. It is remarkable this Head ach never terminates a fit of Gout.

3 The Rheumatism. It may be known to arise from this Cause. 1 By its attacking persons of robust habits. 2 by Alternating with

V of which I have known an instance in this city

or succeeding pains in the limbs ~~only~~⁴ only, & 3 by being increased by all the causes which increase Rheumatism. The disease from both Gout & Rheumatism often affects the scalp and periostium not only with pain, but with a partial & general swelling of each of them, and hence arises another mark by which they may both be known. In speaking of Gout & Rheumatism Under distinct heads, take notice I do mean two distinct diseases. They are grades only of one original disease.
4 Great heat & cold; the former to such a degree as to induce what is called ~~inflammation~~ 5 Rubicity.
6 The Strife which takes place between the Arteries and Veins between the 36th & 46th years of life.
7 The Apation of the menses.
8 Obstructed menses, and piles 9 The Apation of the piles where they have been habitual.

V eruptions. ~~too loud talking~~.

10 Continence, or and a difficulty of discharging the feces from the internal piles, or external Condylomata. One of the most dis-tressing Cases of head ^{ache} I have ever known was from the latter cause.

11 Tight Dresses whether ^{around} ~~upon~~ the neck, or upon the head, feet, or the trunk of the body. 12 Sleeping with the head too low or ~~back~~ ^{the} neck bent. 13 leaving off the use of tobacco. 14 expelled

III The Causes which induce Headach thro' the medium of the nervous system are,

1 great heat and cold, and particularly cold feet. ^{sensible qualities} particularly 2 ~~Certain~~ ^{states} of the Air ~~causing~~ ^{unusu-}
-ual moisture, dryness, density & rarity - and ~~winds from~~ certain ~~particular~~ winds.

3 Certain insensible qualities of the Air.
~~see~~ Our knowledge under this head is very limited, we only know that the Air when impregnated with an unusual quantity of bluish matter induces it upon some

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or a page from a manuscript. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and is mostly illegible due to fading and bleed-through from the reverse side. The script is dense and fills most of the page.

ple
Reb
a M
4 p
to un
5
-bi 5
-us
IV.
out
Stor
1 Be
2 Ce
the
-era
is cat
me

people. This is ⁶ obvious from the head ache ceasing ~~when this~~ occurring only during a thunder storm, and ceasing when it is over.

4 Impressions upon parts which are insensible to them particularly the stomach, which are conveyed by sympathy to the brain.

5 Fatigue from ^a long walk, or from stan-ding long upon the feet.

6 Unusual wakefulness, or sleep, or sleep at un-usual hours.

IV. The Causes ^{which induce} of head ache from ~~Cancer which~~ ~~act upon the brain thro' the medium of the~~ stomach are

1 Bile.

2 Certain indigestible substances taken into the stomach, that are offensive from idiosyn--crasy, or ~~from what is called a defect~~, that ~~is having once been affected with head ache by~~ ~~eating them~~ from some accidental cause;
such as butter, raw, or baked fat meats, certain

✓ Loud talking I ~~was~~ met with a remarkable -ble instance in this city. A lady who was occasionally visited by a Deaf Sister was always affected with the head ache during her visit, and that in consequence of being obliged to talk louder than usual in order to be heard by her.

7

~~into~~ nuts, and milk.

Now shall we know whether the head ache be induced by those offensive matters in the stomach acting upon the head, or by a disease in the head acting upon the stomach?

— I answer by the priority of the disease in the ~~head~~ stomach, to that in the head.
The reverse of this remark is equally true.

V. The causes which induce head ache thro' the medium of the senses, are

- 1 Certain odors, particularly the odor of flowers spices, and of certain flowers.
- 2 Looking down from a great height, & excess of light.
- 3 Loud and unusual noises, or loud talking and laughing, and listening an unusual time to uninteresting conversation. of the effects

VI The causes which induce head ache thro' the medium of the mind are

V city who is always afflicted with head ache, on sundays, and on no other day of the week. Upon inquiry, it appeared that she was in the practice of devoting Sunday exclusively to reading.

1 ~~Head~~ ^{Study} Protracted studies, or the study of difficult, and Abstruse Subjects. The late Dr Beattie says in one of his letters that the study of the mathematics always brought on the head Ach. I know a lady in this 2 the undue exercise of the passions & all violent emotions, particularly terror, anger and joy.

There is a good deal of Variety in the ^{featu}re nature of the pain which constitutes head Ach, probably ^{depending} upon the different causes ~~which induce it, and the different mediums~~ ^{by and} thru which it is produced. I shall briefly enumerate them.

- 1 It affects one half, or the whole head.
In the former case it is called Hemiania.
- 2 It affects the forehead, or Occiput chiefly.

[Faint, illegible handwriting in cursive script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

3 late 5 at for
the pro
6
y
wi
ma
It
3

3 It affects the orb of one, or both eyes. ~~It~~^{It} ~~was~~ ~~indeed~~ appeared in this form in the late DeLackson of this city, & was always induced by bile in his stomach.

- 4 The pain is dull & stupifying, or 5 It is extremely acute & constant, ~~and~~ attended at times with a sensation of something like the opening & shutting of the ~~brain~~ sutures of the ~~brain~~ cranium, probably from a Clonic spasm of the brain.
 6 It is attended with ^{short} remissions & exacerbations.
 7 The scalp of the head is sore to the touch.

The head Ach under all these forms appears
 1 with perfect intermissions for days, weeks months & even years.

- 2 It appears with remissions only.
 3 It is constant for months & years.

[Faint, illegible handwriting in cursive script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

[Faint, illegible handwriting visible along the right edge of the page, possibly from an adjacent page.]

Dr Baerhaave supposed the seat of the pain in the head ach to be in the dura mater. Disputations of persons who have died of this disease confirm this Opinion. The substance of the brain that is, those parts of it which are supposed to be the seat of the mind, and of the origin of the Nerves possess but little ~~for~~ or no sensibility, and for the wise purposes formerly mentioned. It is no objection to this Opinion that we find marks of inflammation, such as pus & water in every part of the brain after death from head ach. We observe the same things after death from diseases in the liver, spleen & lungs none of which were accompanied with pain. ~~We then seem to~~ We observe likewise death from palsy, Vertigo & madness all of which

V Now is it any objection to the fact of the pain being in the Dura mater that it dis=covers no sensibility when cut, in perfor=ming operations on the brain. ^{Like} ~~Like~~ the heart & ligaments it is probably affected by stimuli of one kind, and not of ano=ther. It seems to feel the stimulus of distention in the most sensible manner.

we know occupy the substance of the brain,
 and yet no one is attended with head ach, except when the patients are upon the recovery. In this case the disease is probably translated to the Dura mater. I spoke formerly of the inter-communication of sensation in the bowels. The same thing takes place in the brain, & hence the marks of one disease be it what it may, are often seen after death in every part of the brain.

The head ach under all its forms appears
 with perfect intermissions for days, ^{weeks,} ~~months,~~ seasons and years. I have known it in four instances to come on with the rising, and go off with the sitting

[Faint, illegible handwriting in a cursive script, likely from the 18th or 19th century. The text is written in a single column across the page.]

have and in
the
on
-h it
a k
w it
+
n 25
82
32
in
tr

12

hem. There light was its exciting cause. It ~~occurs even in the~~ ^{frequently} occurs ~~only~~ with the seasons, in some people in the Spring, in others in the Summer, ^{in others in the Autumn,} and in others in the Winter only. Again it occurs in the Spring and Au-tumn and in Summer & Winter. When it occurs in the Autumn only, it is generally a disguised autumnal fever. I have once known ^{it} to occur for many years in the month of September, ^{only} probably from ~~the~~
~~its~~ ~~own~~ ~~originating~~ ~~from~~ ~~the~~ ~~usual~~ ~~cause~~ ~~of~~ ~~the~~ ~~belonging~~ ~~to~~ ~~the~~ ~~class~~ ~~of~~ ~~fevers~~ ~~just~~ ~~now~~ mentioned.

- 2 The head ache appears for weeks, months & years with remissions only, and
- 3 It is sometimes perpetual without either intermissions or remissions. I have known two cases in which it continued without

[Faint, illegible handwriting in cursive script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

any
I k
Abn
in ha
Ab
the no /od f an
be 20 th
p

any Abatement for ²four & five years, and I knew a citizen of Philad^a who lived to be above 80 years of Age who assured me that in the course of 40. years he did recollect to have passed a ~~less~~ day without being afflicted with this distressing disease. —

It is a singular fact, that numerous as the causes and cases of this disease are, we now and then meet with persons who have passed long lives, who have never felt a single sensation in the head, that could give them any idea of the head ach.

The Remedies for this disease should be different according to its causes, ^{and seats.} It is because so little attention has been paid to each of them, that the disease has so often eluded the power of medicine, and done both good &

[Faint, illegible handwriting in cursive script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

has
me
ules
can
I
Dis
the
and
of
cur
-C
-t
-s see all
th

harm in a hundred instances. I shall briefly mention the remedies that are proper to ~~cure~~ relieve, or cure it under the six heads of its causes and seats.

I of the Remedies which are proper when the Disease arises from diet, or local causes.

When it arises from malconformation of the head it is generally incurable, but it may be relieved by small & frequent bleedings.

When it arises from Contusions or Concupiscence of the brain, the remedies should be copious Evacuation, Cupping, or Leeches to the head, - Cold Applications to the head - an elevated position of it, purges and blisters and deep Scarifications of the Scalp & pericranium. I have seen the last of these remedies succeed, ^{After} ~~where~~ all the others had been employed to no purpose.

The Disease was brought on by a Contusion.

Recollect here, that the intervals between [Faint, mostly illegible handwriting in a cursive script, likely from the 18th or 19th century. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. There are several lines of text, but the words are difficult to decipher due to fading and the style of the script.]

the Dio
m m
the
Sir
the
II
tha blu
car
the
of er
In
the Dio

the remote Cause of this disease, and the disease itself, is ~~often~~ from one day, to eighteen months.

For ~~the~~ ^{the} Head Ach from an Abscess in the maxillary Sinus and ~~decayed teeth~~ the Remedy should be the extraction of the teeth below the Sinus. If it arise from decayed teeth, the teeth should be extracted.

II When the Head Ach arises from causes that act upon the head thro' the medium of the blood vessels, the remedies should be suited to those causes.

It may be known to arise from ^{these} causes, ~~that~~ by the pulse, which ^{is} in the beginning of the Disease generally active.

If it arise from an epidemic fever, the remedies should be the same as for that fever.

Emetics are generally useful in these cases.

If it arise from Gout or Rheumatism, ^{and the pulse be excited,} the Remedies should be ~~the same as if for those Diseases~~ ^{the same as if for those Diseases}. If bleeding be required, The quantity to

V Cups to the head are very useful ^{to aid} in ~~head~~ general bloodletting.
~~As for this disease~~ Two Citizens of Philad^a were ~~preserved~~ kept alive until ^{one of them} ~~they were~~ was about 75, and the other about 80 years of age.

2 In an active state of the pulse, purges should be given, and

3 The diet should be abstemious, and

4 Cold applications should be used to the head. They will be perfectly safe to the head, where they would be not be so to the feet. ^{of} the sympathy ~~with~~ the head, with the stomach & bowels is much less than with the feet.] 5. ^{by} An advantage will arise from cutting off the hair, and exposing the bare head night & day to the cold air. The Bishop of Wisnes, ^{I said was} was cured of a head ache by sleeping with his bald head exposed to the night air. It probably arose from Gout or Rheumatism. 6-bedrawn should be greater than for Gout, and Rheumatism in other parts of the body. ~~But~~ ^{Blister} should be ~~indicated~~, they should be applied to the usual Seats of those Diseases, that is the joints & the great toe. Cataplasms of mustard should be used to ^{the same places.} & Incisions into the Scalp as formerly mentioned ~~and~~ should be resorted to in extreme cases, also.

 & a Salivation.

If it arise from ^{Insolation} Rubery, from the Strife between the Arteries & Veins, from the Lipation of the menses, or from Obstructed menses & from the Lipation of the piles, And the pulse be full ~~to~~ ^{or} tense, and the System exhibit signs of plethora, the Remedies should be bleeding, purges, low diet, and most of the remedies mentioned Under the former head.

If it arise from Costiveness, it should be obviated by taking Rhubarb occasionally. If from Con--dylomata, they should be destroyed by means of ligatures.

If from tight Dresses upon any part or issues,

✓ be restored by blisters or caustics, or purges should be employed as substitutes for them.

16

of the body they should be removed, - if from sleeping with the head too low, or with the neck bent, it should be obviated. If from the use of tobacco, in any way, it should be laid aside. If from repelled eruptions, they should

In Head Ach from all the causes that act upon it should the medium of the blood vessels, the patient should sleep with his head as much elevated as possible.

After the reduction of the action of the blood-vessels, and in all those cases in which this has not been necessary, the Remedies should be of a stimulating nature such as Opium, Wine, the Volatile tincture of Guaiacum, Warm and Cold Bath, warm Applications to the head, stimulating Applications to the feet, such as Salt & Water, Cayenne pepper, Shonakers Wax, Burgundy pitch, Garlic, Asafetida, & Euphorbium.
The inhalation of the Vapor of hot water,
- of hot Coffee - or hot Vinegar. Embrioes, but ✓ seen it completely cured by working one month in a garden.

not Sternutaries. Snuff has been useful for this purpose. A local Ipecat induced by covering the eyes, ~~and~~ exposing the head to the ~~heat~~ Vapor of Vinegar poured upon a heated brick, confined by means of a blanket thrown over the ~~whole~~ head & trunk of the body.
 Smoking tobacco. It was completely cured in a gentleman of this city by the use of Sigs.
 It was remarkable when in health, they Dicked him, but when afflicted with the head Ach, they never affected his ^{labor or} stomach. a salivation, and lastly, exercise. I have once III. That Ach I have said is produced by causes that act upon the brain thro' the medium of the nerves. I have enumerated those causes. The Head Ach in these cases is generally periodical, or has perfect intervals between its paroxysms. ~~There~~

[Faint, illegible handwriting in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter.]

[Faint, illegible handwriting on the right edge of the page, possibly a continuation from the previous page or a marginal note.]

It is sometimes called the Sick head ache, but it exists without any sickness at first= = much and tho' it may be induced by certain offensive matters in the stomach, yet it is much oftner induced by the Other causes that have been mentioned.

The paroxysm is generally preceded by cold and dry feet, great sleepiness or wakefulness, troublesome dreams, a sense of weight upon the head, and not increase or diminution of appetite. In this forming state of a paroxysm of nervous head, the following Remedies are proper.

1 Abstinence. 2 a dose of ~~the~~ Laudanum,
I have often known this medicine prevent,
or weaken a paroxysm of this disease.

[Faint, illegible handwriting in a cursive script, likely a historical ledger or account book. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper.]

72

3
la u =y
4
5 =4
in 6
D
w
8
A
D
a
w 9
1

3 Three or four Glases¹⁹ of wine. I know a lady in this city who by taking this remedy and going to bed strangled a paroxysm of this disease in its forming state.

4 The petibrium.

5 An Emetic if there be any reason to believe it has been excited by offensive matters in the stomach.

6 a purge. 7 a copious sweat induced by drinking some warm liquor & wrapping up the body in blankets.

8 ^{swallowing} Two or three grains of pepper. I have known this remedy to be employed in one instance with success. I shall mention a fact hereafter that will show pepper to be useful remedy in this disease.

9 Dr Darwin recommends swallowing three pints of hot water in the forming state of a person of such high rank and of such a name as to be worthy of the honor of being admitted to the society of the learned and the wise and of the most distinguished men of the age. It is a great honor to be admitted to the society of such men and to be able to converse

with them on the subjects
of science and of art.
It is a great honor to be able to converse with them on the subjects of science and of art. It is a great honor to be able to converse
with them on the subjects
of science and of art.

of
Dr
ex
the af
fo
fo
to
the
to
on ca
= a D
fo
a
P

20 of a paroxysm of head Ach. I can say nothing in its favor from my own experience.

Should these remedies fail of preventing ~~the~~ a paroxysm of head Ach, the disease ~~apex~~ proceeds, and appears with the following symptoms, Cold & Dry feet - the face suffused with blood, and hot, the eyes inflamed, the ^{upper} eye lips are depressed, below the under eye lid, the flesh is black & blue.
tears flow involuntarily, vision is weakened, or totally suspended, or the eyes become so exquisitely sensible of to light that they cannot bear even a candle or fire in the room.
The ears are affected with imaginary or fable real noises, and the senses of smelling and taste are impaired. Bilious Vomiting pale Urine, Costiveness, and Syncope

✓ 6 Cloths wetted with Vinegar applied to the forehead.

7 Bathing the head with Spirit of Turpentine, or Spirit of hartshorn, or pouring
Other upon it.

Sometimes attend the paroxysm. The ^{pain} ~~mind~~ ^{is} during the prevalence of these symptoms is acute and sometimes so exquisite as to cause the patient to cry out. The mind sympathizes with the body in the loss of memory, ⁱⁿ incoherence of imagination and weakness of judgment, but seldom in complete delirium. These symptoms generally continue from 6 to 48 hours, and then go off in stupor or sleep.

The Remedies proper in a paroxysm of this disease should be

1 Bleeding if the blood vessels be brought into sympathy, or if there be danger of convulsions.

2 Cold applications to the head.

3 Purges. 4 Blisters behind the ears.

5 ~~Put~~ a tight bandage around the head.

6 Cataplasms of garlic or mustard to the feet.

[Faint, illegible handwriting in a cursive script, likely from a 17th or 18th-century manuscript. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper.]

2

[Faint, illegible handwriting on the right margin of the adjacent page, continuing the cursive script.]

2

9 Rest in a recumbent posture, & in a dark room.

10 Perfect Silence.

11 Large Doses of Laudanum, Other & Wine.

12 Terror. I have once known a paroxysm completely cured by the fright induced by a fall upon the ice in a lady in this city.

The Remedies to be employed in the intervals of the paroxysms should be such as are calculated to give tone to the nervous system, for the Disease originates in nervous debility. They are Tonics, particularly ~~the~~ ^{g^r} ~~digestible~~ ^{such as} Bark, Valerian, or both combined - Garlic, and bitters of all kinds, ~~etc.~~ ~~& mineral substances~~ all the preparations of Iron, the Sulphate of Lime & Copper & the flowers of Lime.

2 The Cold Bath.

3 Cordial food. I have known a Case of

V

IV. Head ache when it arises from causes which act upon the brain thro' the medium of the stomach should be removed by avoiding all ~~its existing~~ ^{those} causes, by gentle emetics, and the remedies ~~formerly~~ ^{to be} mentioned for Dyspepsia. — I mentioned ^{formerly} the signs by which the disease may be known to be derived from the stomach.

V. Head ache from causes which act upon the senses ~~should~~ can be cured only by the removal of those causes.

VI The same thing should be done in all our attempts to remove head ache when it arises from causes that act upon the brain thro' the medium of the mind. —

in all cases to avoid the application of grease or powder to the hair.

6 Dr. Vleberden recommends a perpetual blister to the head for the cure of this disease.

7 all the exciting causes of it should be carefully removed.

v The disease when left to itself, or when incurable, terminates in deafness, blindness, loss of memory, ^{hydrocephalus internus} Epilepsy, Palsy & Apoplexy. It has been said - madness likewise, but I have seldom observed this to the case. On the contrary, I have ^{often} observed head ache to be a symptom of returning reason ~~and~~ of approaching derangement.

While I have distinguished head ache from its causes, let me caution you against supposing that they always exist and act separately. It is to believe this to be the case would be to relapse into all the errors and vices of nosology. No - no - Gentlemen, the two or more of those causes often combine, and the remedies of course should be accommodated to those combinations. In your attempts to cure this disease never lose sight of the following ~~rules~~ directions.

[Faint, illegible handwriting in a cursive script, likely from an 18th-century manuscript. The text is written in brown ink on aged, yellowed paper. The handwriting is dense and fills most of the page.]

[Faint, illegible handwriting visible on the edge of the adjacent page to the right.]

- 1 Find out through what system or medium the disease is produced.
- 2 When two or more systems ~~or~~ are diseased, direct your remedies to each & all of them.
- 3 Take care to shun the systems where more than one of them is affected. —
- 4 Change your remedies with the varying states of the system or systems thro' which the disease is conveyed to the brain. &
- 5 Recollect that the disease can be cured only by attacking it in ~~its~~ intervals. —

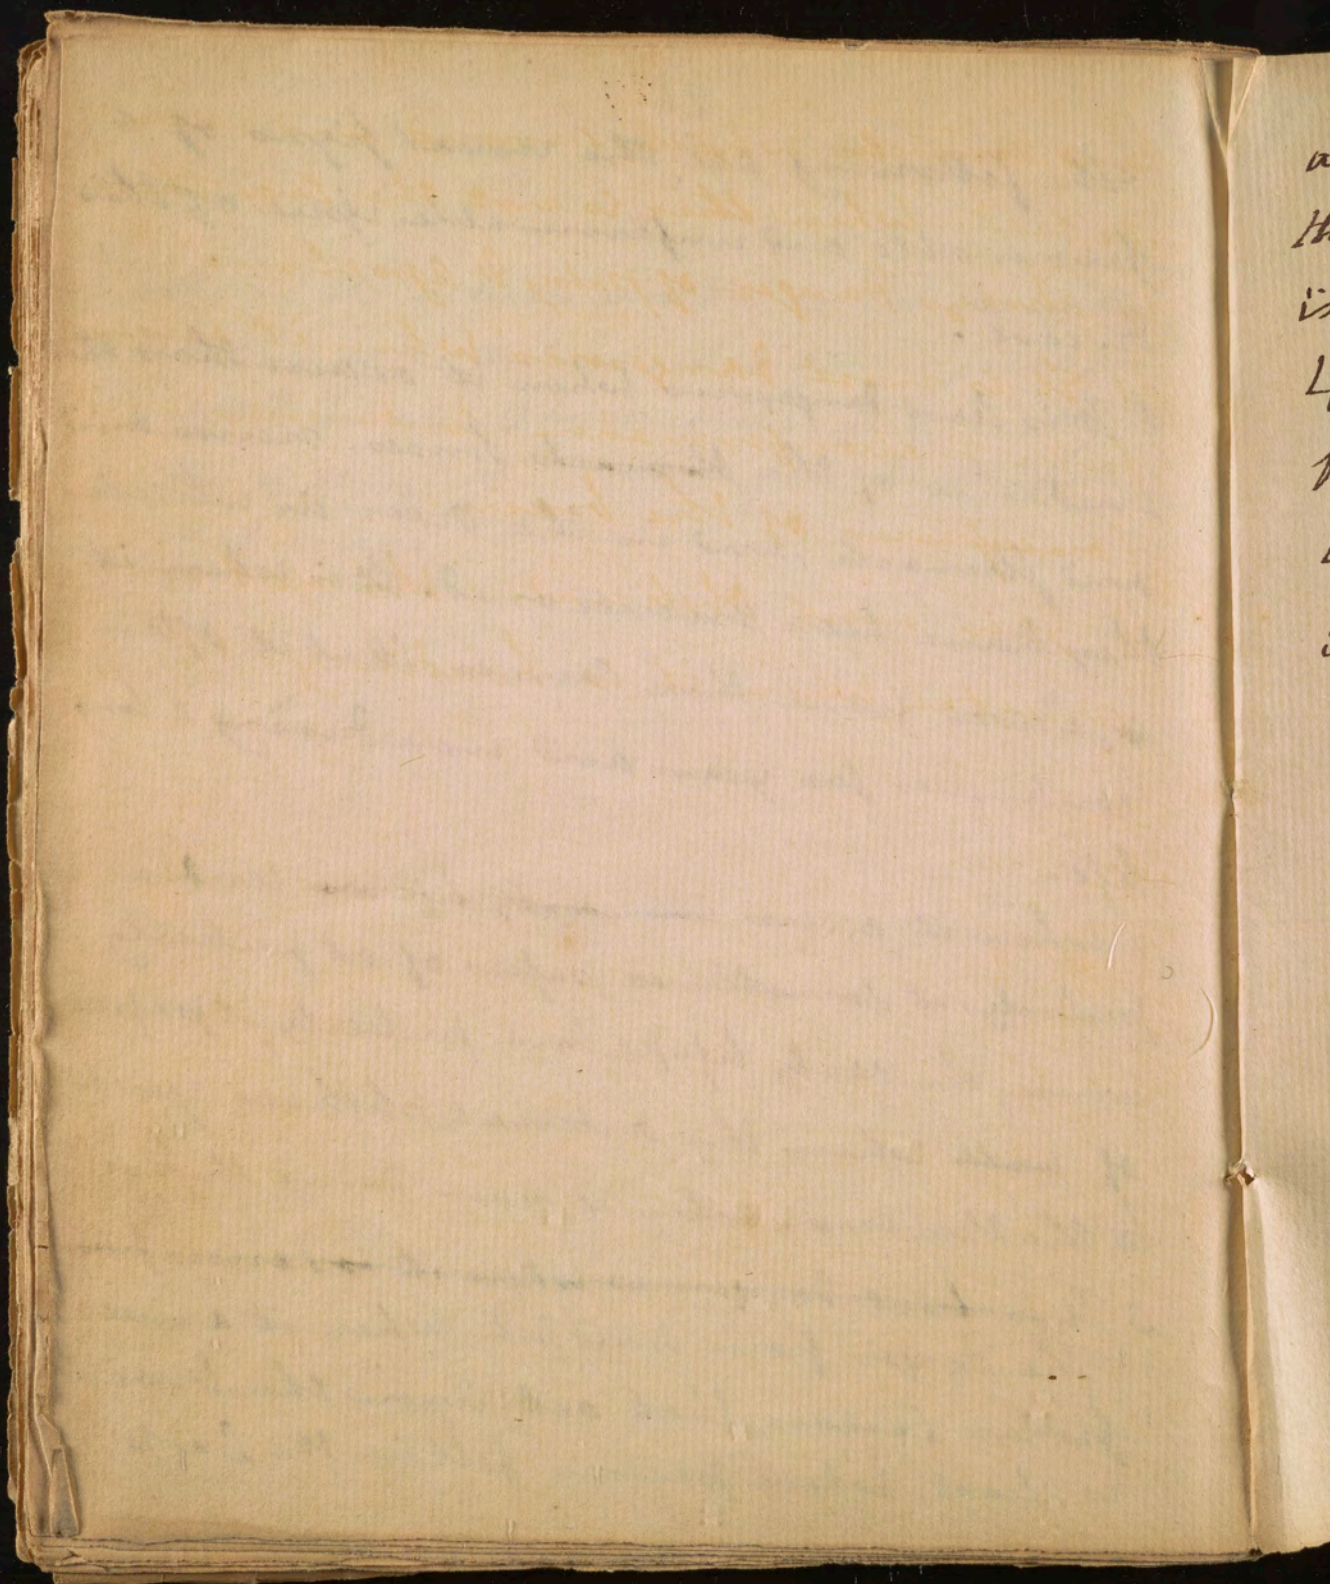

Between the Arteries and Veins, or during the operation of the menses, it is seldom fatal pro-vided it be relieved by medicine. It generally goes off when those states of the blood vessels pass away.

The following are the usual signs of a favourable and unfavourable issue of this Disease.

1 It is least dangerous when it occurs thro' the medium of the ~~stomachs~~, senses, nerves, mind and stomach, and in the order in which they have been mentioned. It is when it arises from those causes, that it often continues for years and even during a long life.

2 When it occurs ~~in early life~~ under puberty, it sometimes passes off at puberty, when, in early life & above puberty, it passes off with when the arterial plethora yields to the venous when it occurs during the life.

3 ~~It is least dangerous when it arises from~~
The danger from head ache when it arises from causes that act upon the brain, is least, when pain is felt in the scalp, and muscles which surround and move the head. When this is not the case, there is always danger of palsy & Apoplexy.

4 It is most dangerous when it arises from malformation, contusions and concussions of the brain.

5 It is most obstinate, tho' not most mortal, when it is hereditary.

